ABSTRACT

Statistical and directory information are provided in one volume. The 1975-76 statistics cover public libraries in five population ranges: bookmobiles, academic libraries, special libraries, state agency, and county law libraries. The data covers income, staffing and salaries, expenditures, materials, and activities. The first of three directory sections lists libraries by city or unincorporated area. Information includes library name, type, address, telephone number, interlibrary loan (ILL) phone number, TWX and Telex numbers, director's name, schedule of hours, clientele and population, system or network affiliation, and branch libraries. The second section lists library systems and includes address, membership, and persons to contact. The third section is a chart of public libraries by name, with system, TWX or Telex number, and chief librarian. An index for special subject collections in California libraries and a library name index are included. (JAB)

How to use this publication

This annual publication of the California State Library is divided roughly into two parts, statistics and directory. Data is compiled from annual reports submitted by public, academic, special, state agency and county law libraries. The data for the most part is published as submitted, though efforts have been made to correct and update entries insofar as possible, as noted below.

The statistical tables are arranged by type of library, with public libraries divided into six population size categories, and include such information as persons served, staffing, income, expenditure, collections and activities. A five year summary table for the state as a whole is the first table printed.

In the directory section libraries of all types are arranged by city with library name, address, director and other information provided. An alphabetical address list follows of Public Library Services Act library systems, library networks, and reference centers. Next comes an alphabetical address list of public libraries, followed by a list of public library friends groups.

Two indexes are provided. The first is a subject index to special collections in reporting libraries. The volume concludes with a name index for locating libraries in the tables and in the directory section.

The spelling of California place names is unpredictable, making for difficulties in alphabetizing. We have adopted the practice used by the Secretary of State in the California Roster of alphabetizing letter by letter, not word by word.

For fiscal year 1975–1976 we have data from 704 California libraries, down considerably from last year's 1,037. This year's lower figure is caused primarily by a failure of many libraries to report, rather than by widespread closing of libraries. Reporting from special libraries, for example, was down 30% from last year. There were some library mergers, and a few closures, which do decrease the actual total. We estimate there are around 1,000 libraries currently in operation in the state, exclusive of school libraries.

Those libraries reporting are grouped as follows:

- 175 public libraries, with 3,932 public service outlets:

  160 main libraries are reported. Administrative headquarters are not included, and some county or district libraries have no main library.

  555 branch libraries are reported. A branch is an extension library open some part of each of five days a week, has at least 1,400 square feet of floor space, a general book collection of at least 7,000 volumes, and is staffed with the equivalent of at least one librarian and one clerical employee during hours open for service.

  506 stations are reported. A station is a library structure smaller than a branch, providing a lower level of service.

  2,711 mobile stops are reported. A mobile stop is a location visited by a bookmobile or other traveling library.

- 161 academic libraries, including 92 college or university libraries and 69 community or junior college libraries.

- 368 special libraries, of which 52 are state agency libraries:

  12 popular libraries at U.S. armed forces installations.

  26 resident libraries at state institutions and schools.

  87 law libraries, including 58 county law libraries.

  68 medical libraries.

  2 religious libraries.

  173 business, scholarly and other special libraries.

Statistics section

Californians last year borrowed 152,637,559 materials from the reporting 704 academic, public, special, state agency and county law libraries, 7.2 items per capita, an increase of 5.7% over the previous year. These libraries reported a total operating expenditure of $288,405,929, of which 66.2% went for salaries and benefits and 18.8% for library materials, the whole working out to $13.61 per capita, an increase from last year of 8.2%. Our libraries now hold 94,996,285 volumes, the equivalent of 4.48 volumes per capita, a 7.6% increase from last year.

The state's 21,198,000 citizens asked 38,593,205 reference questions of their libraries, an average 1.82 per capita, up 13.4%. The work of the state's libraries was done by a full-time equivalent of 16,576.3 staff members, 3.3% more than last year.

Public libraries alone spent 55.4% of the library money, employed 56.2% of the staff, held 51% of the book stock, and contributed 82.3% of the materials circulation and 91.1% of the reference transactions.

The Five Year Statistical Summary covers fiscal year 1971–1972 to 1975–1976, providing basic information on operating expenditure, staffing, book stock and activities for all types of libraries, statewide. Breakouts are not available for the earlier years, but beginning with the 1973–1974 year, and more fully in the current year, individual category entries are published. Under operating expenditure there are two breakouts, of salaries and benefits, and of library materials. These do not, of course, comprise the total, which includes other operating costs as well. Library staff is shown as full-time equivalent (FTE), not total count of persons. The interlibrary loan columns report transactions between library jurisdictions, not requests or shipments within a particular library. Reference transactions include reading aid activities and record those requiring use of library collections and/or training and experience of staff, not simple directional questions. This year, computations of per capita and percentage are provided, where they seemed appropriate or helpful.

Public library population groupings vary slightly this year over previous years. As the state continues to grow, (even at a slowed pace), more libraries are falling into the "over 100,000" and fewer into the "under 10,000" categories. A new category of "over 500,000 population" is therefore established this year, containing nine libraries already and several more waiting in the wings. This eases somewhat the size of the "100,000 to 500,000" group. Also, the lower size limit has been raised, creating an "under 12,500 population" category to spread the size groupings more evenly.

As of July 1, 1976, the Chico Public Library merged with the Butte County Library, and the Visalia Public Library merged with the Tulare County Library. Fiscal year 1975–1976 data for Chico and Visalia will be found in the tables, but not estimates for fiscal year 1976–1977. The count of public libraries is down two, to 175.

A few individual libraries have changed position significantly, and a word of explanation is due. Generally, the State Library uses population estimates for January 1 from the Population Research Unit of the State Department of Finance to compute service figures for city and county libraries. Generally, these figures work well.

However, figures for library districts have not been re-estimated since 1972, and in several cases we now have the untenable situation of the 1976 figure for a city which comprises only part of a library district being larger than the 1972 figure for the district as a whole. Also, there are special cases of city libraries serving portions of the surrounding county by contract, and receiving tax moneys to do so. One example is Santa Barbara County which has no county library as such but receives service countywide from its three public libraries, Lompoc, Santa Barbara and Santa Maria. Neither the city nor the county estimates of the Population Research Unit will do in these special public library cases.

This year's Public Library Report forms allowed entry of a local population estimate, from special census, planning department or other source, and these figures, rather than the state figures, have been published where they will give a better picture of the library's true service pattern. They are marked with an asterisk (*) on the tables, and footnoted, "Population from local estimate". They correct some inequities, for example, moving Carmel from 4,700 to 29,189 and Vacaville from 21,690 to 42,000 population. Such significant changes in position should be interpreted not as great changes in the local situation but rather as technical changes toward more accurate reporting of that situation.

The former final table in each group, "Estimated income and expenditure" for the current fiscal year, has been dropped in favor of printing current year actual 1975–1976 figures along side estimated 1976–1977 figures for easier comparison.

Subscript numbers in column headings, (A8, B1, etc.), refer to numbered lines of the report forms, indicating exactly what entry is published. Preprints of the public library tables were sent to the reporting libraries for verification, and their corrections incorporated in this published version wherever possible.

On the Population and Income tables:

- Assessed valuation is the total of secured and unsecured assessed valuation of the governmental unit taxed for service.
- Federal revenue sharing columns have been added in both the operating income and the capital outlay sections.
- Local operating income is divided into local taxation receipts, either from library tax levy or general fund appropriation, and other local income, typically fines and fees.
- Contract with other jurisdiction reports income from some other governmental unit to which the library provides service. A city library being reimbursed by a county is a typical example.

On the Staffing and Salaries tables:

- First entry, A15, is the total count of staff members paid from the library budget.
- Second entry, A16, is this figure interpreted as full-time equivalent (FTE). Full-time is normally 40 hours per week, but not less than 36. The FTE of one full-time position is 1. The FTE of a part-time position is computed by dividing the number of hours worked by the hours of the normal work week. Line A16 reports the total of full-time and the FTE of part-time positions in a single entry, to two decimal places.

- Librarians, LMTA, Clerical and Other entries are subtotals of the total staff FTE entry. LMTA means Library/Media Technical Assistant, typically as trained in a two-year college program.
- CETA stands for the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act, a federally funded program.
- Volunteers are unpaid library workers, and the entries report the average total hours worked per week for all volunteers of a library.
- Remainder of the table is a salary survey of monthly pay ranges for selected positions as of September 1, 1976, the new fiscal year. Where a single figure is given, the position has a flat rate, no monthly range.

On the Expenditure tables:

- Salaries and benefits for maintenance staff, (if paid from the library budget), are reported in addition to library staff for the first time, B13.
- In expenditure for library materials, many libraries do not provide a breakout for different types. Where this is clear in their report, the total figure is published under Books, B14, with an asterisk, and asterisks are placed in the blank columns. The section is marked, "* included in total".
- Microforms, B16, is a new column in library materials reporting expenditure for microfilm, microfiche and other micro format materials.
- Audio-visuals, B17, reports expenditure for motion pictures, audiorecordings and other audio-visual format materials.
- Contract services, B19, reports expenditures for book rental, film circuit, equipment lease, system or network fees, and similar contracts.
- Transfer within jurisdiction, B20, reports funds transferred from the library budget to another division of the city or county for services performed, for example, for maintenance or accounting.

- Reimbursing other jurisdiction, B21, reports expenditure from the library budget to another jurisdiction for library services performed under contract, for example, a county reimbursing a city library. This is the other end of the transaction reported on line B6, Contract with other jurisdiction, as operating income.

Three entries beyond the grand total expenditure are published to aid in statewide comparison of libraries.

- All public libraries were asked to estimate the value of services and supplies which benefit the library but are not charged to the library budget. This figure, reported on B27, was added to the total operating expenditure, B22, to create an equivalent operating expenditure. The figure is needed for comparability, as some libraries pay for maintenance, accounting or other services from their budget and others do not, but all must obtain the services in one way or another in order to operate.
- Equivalent tax rate, B28, is computed by dividing the equivalent operating expenditure, (the sum of B22 and B27), by the assessed valuation, B1, and moving the decimal two places to the right. The intent is to show a rate that would be necessary to support the library's operating expenditure, and allow comparisons among libraries, not to contradict any actual tax rate that the library's jurisdiction might establish.
- Equivalent expenditure per capita, B29, divides the equivalent operating expenditure by the population served, A8 or A9, to indicate a dollar amount spent per person for library service.
- Averages rather than totals are printed for these two equivalent computations.

On the Collections tables, units and titles columns are paired for most entries. In the units column is reported the number of volumes, reels, discs or other materials; in the titles column is reported the number of separate bibliographic whole items. For example, an encyclopedia would be counted as one title but 20 volumes.

On the Activities tables, many libraries, again, do not provide a breakout of circulation by type of material. Where this is clear in their report, an asterisk is printed in blank columns and either the entry for total, D7, or for books, D6, is asterisked to indicate that the figure includes other materials circulation as well. For this reason, only the total circulation of all materials is used in the statewide summaries of the five year table. Motion pictures, D1, audiorecordings, D2, and art works, D3, are subtotals of non-book materials, D5, but do not necessarily comprise the whole of that figure as other non-book materials may circulate and need not be separately reported.

Little in library statistics seems to be as inconsistently reported as interlibrary loan and reference referral, both at the individual library and at the system level. What was asked for on the annual report was:

D8. Patron reserves taken for materials not available on shelf.

D9. Interlibrary loan requests for materials sent to other libraries; not branch to headquarters requests within a library.

D10. Number of items received on interlibrary loan from other libraries.

D11. Number of items sent on interlibrary loan to other libraries.

D12. Reference and reading aid assistance directly to library users.

D13. Subject reference questions sent to other libraries or reference centers; not branch to headquarters requests within a library.

D14. Number of subject reference questions answered on interlibrary referral for you by other libraries.

D15. Number of subject reference questions you answer on interlibrary referral for other libraries.

Entries are published as received.

Academic library data is published in four tables: Staffing, Expenditure, Collections, and Activities. The number of persons served by an academic library is considered to be the student body and the faculty, as total count not as full-time equivalent. Other column headings are similar to those described for the public library tables. The same abbreviations for library name are used on the statistics tables and in the index to special collections; they are identified in the library name index and in the directory entry for the library.

Special libraries are identified by type, (see Directory section below). Column headings are similar to those described for the public library tables. The same abbreviations for library names are used on the statistics tables and in the index to special collections; they are identified in the library name index and in the directory entry for the library.

Data for state agency libraries is published in two tables: Staffing and Expenditure, and Collections and Activities. Included are residential and special libraries operated by state government agencies, hospitals and institutions, including the State Library, but not the University of California nor the California State University and Colleges system, whose libraries are found in the academic libraries tables. State agency libraries are identified by type, (see Directory section below). Column headings are similar to those described for the public library tables. The same abbreviations for library names are used on the statistics tables and in the index to special collections; they are identified in the library name index and in the directory entry for the library. Financial data reported for the State Library includes both state and federal funds.

The table of data for county law libraries differs from the others in being arranged by number of attorneys practicing in the county, not alphabetically by county. The population of the county is also published.

Directory section

The directory section contains name and address information as supplied by the libraries on their annual reports for fiscal year 1975–1976. Wherever possible, information has been updated to final copy deadline, June 1977. Entries have been created for a few major libraries which did not report this year, but are known to be still in operation. Such libraries do not appear in the statistics tables.

Directory listings are alphabetical by city. Within a city, they are alphabetical by name of library, or name of organization operating the library. Each reporting library is listed once. County library branches in cities over 10,000 population, and a very few other specialized branch libraries, are also listed. A complete listing of all branches of all libraries would be uneconomical to publish, but the information is reported on the annual forms and may be consulted at the State Library.

Libraries are coded by type according to a system adapted from that of the American Library Directory:

A – Armed forces popular library
C – College or university library
I – Institutional resident library
J – Junior college or community college library
L – Law library
M – Medical library
P – Public library, subdivided:
PB – Branch public library
PC – County public library
PH – High school district public library
PL – Library district public library
PM – Municipal public library
R – Religious library
S – Special library, business, scholarly or other.

The short name used for statistical tables and subject index appears below the library type code. For public libraries, a number indicating on which population size group tables that library will be found appears below the short name:

1 – Over 500,000 population
2 – 100,000 to 500,000 population
3 – 50,000 to 100,000 population
4 – 25,000 to 50,000 population
5 – 12,500 to 25,000 population
6 – Under 12,500 population

Among the elements of a library listing:

- Mailing address appears in parentheses, following the street address, if different.
- Name of the library director appears following address and telephone information.
- Brief statement of interlibrary loan policy is published for academic and special libraries.
- Listing of membership in Public Library Services Act systems, library networks, consortia or other library services groups concludes the entries.

The address list of public library systems, networks and reference centers includes organization name and address, membership, and contact person and telephone. The public library address list includes similar information for all public libraries. These two sections are off-printed from this publication and available free of charge in limited quantity from the State Library.

A list of public library friends groups is nearly published this year. Information is from the Public Library Reports, supplemented by information from the Friends of California Libraries.

The subject index to special collections in California libraries is our second attempt to create a listing that will hopefully be of use in interlibrary loan work and collection building. All libraries were asked to list the subjects of their significant or unique collections, up to six in number, in Library of Congress subject terms. Many libraries did not reply, a few provided 20 or more subjects, and many still do not understand the question.

We have tried to edit the replies into acceptable and consistent subject headings, but where no obvious LC term could be identified, or where a library's meaning was unclear, we have generally printed the subject as reported if it made sense or excluded it if it did not.Library names are given in the short form used also for listings in the statistical tables and identified in the name index.

The library name index is arranged alphabetically letter by letter, not word by word. Academic, special and state agency libraries are entered by the short form names used on statistical tables and in the subject index. This index thus serves as a key to short form names, directing the reader to the full library name and listing by city in the directory section.

In producing this year's publication the editor acknowledges with thanks the assistance of the following State Library staff members: Ken Pettitt and Mary Weinstein, Califoria Section; Grace Lin, Catalog Section; Muriel Hoppes, Law Library; Rick Parrott, Photo Services; and Cheryl Fanner and Bonnie Lilley, Library Development Services Bureau.
